

Trainz18

Trainz18, the latest annual weekend of hands-on railway modelling is coming up on Saturday and Sunday August 11/12.

This will be a great weekend for railway modellers no matter what scale or prototype.

This year we move to a new and exciting venue: Hao Room, Te Hapua Halswell Centre, 341 Halswell Rd (more details below).

9am to 5pm both days

Programme:

As usual everyone will have a space where they can work on their own modelling projects. This is a great chance to work alongside others, see what they are doing, get help and share ideas and ways of doing things.

At intervals during both days there will be talks from a number of experts on interesting topics. Whether you attend these or not is optional. After some of these there will be workshops with the opportunity to try out what has just been learnt.

You are of course welcome to ask questions and even provide your own spontaneous demonstration of anything that comes up in conversation.

At this stage we expect the talks to cover:

- Layout module construction
- Train detection/signalling
- Weathering
- 3D printing at the next level
- Making trees
- Scenicking
- More

There may also be a small number of part-time traders with products for sale.
